St. Johns County Utilities Partners with CH2M to Provide Computers to County Students

St. Johns County Utilities recently partnered with CH2M to provide four local students with new laptop computers in conjunction with the Bikes-n-Bytes Program, an initiative created to provide positive reinforcement for good behavior and academics. Selected from Creekside High School and St. Johns Technical High School, the recipients demonstrated a special interest and aptitude in science, technology, engineering, and math. St. Johns County Utilities has a long-standing, successful partnership with Creekside and St. Johns Technical high schools, and hires interested students as water and wastewater treatment plant operators and technicians.
