

Centerline named a 'Florida Company to Watch'

By Colleen Jones
August 17, 2019

Centerline Brackets, a division of Centerline Steel, has been named among 2019 Florida Companies to Watch by GrowFL. This awards program honors select companies from throughout the state for developing valuable products and services, creating quality jobs, enriching communities and broadening new industries. Centerline is one of only 50 companies honored by GrowFL this year.

Tracy Smith, CEO and managing partner of Centerline, along with her husband Chris, launched Centerline in 2012 in St. Augustine when they discovered a huge demand amid residential and commercial construction for support brackets made of the highest-possible steel quality.

In its selection, GrowFL's Florida Companies to Watch program — now in its ninth year — evaluates past growth and projected success, special strengths and impact in their markets, communities and within the state, thus deeming them "worth watching."